ENTHUSIASTIC football fans of Hope and Texarkana asked the State Revenue Department to grant a special 50-cent roundtrip rate over the Fulton toll bridge in the belief that this would increase attendance at the Hope game Friday night. The revenue department wisely declined.

Tariff Reduction, Not Cheap Cotton, Path to Recovery

Secretary Wallace Denies AAA Price Has Cut Down Exports

NO BUYING POWER

Foreign Nations Must Sell to Us to Raise Dollars for Cotton

WASHINGTON. — (AP) — Secretary Wallace said Tuesday that America must look to "increased purchasing power" rather than to lowered prices on cotton if it is to maintain markets abroad for its usual annual export of 8,000,000 bales.

"The rise of American cotton prices under the agricultural adjustment act," Wallace said, "is not the circumstance which has brought about the reduction of American cotton exports in recent months."

"The really important cause of this reduction is the inability to some nations to obtain dollar exchange. The only way other nations can get dollars with which to buy cotton is to sell goods or services to us. An increase in foreign purchasing power and in foreign ability to buy American cotton can be brought about if this country permits increased exchange of imports for our dollars."

May Lose Outlet
"Otherwise we may temporarily—or permanently—lose a part of our cotton outlet which has meant so much to the country as a whole."

The secretary, in an interview, declared the "question before the South and the nation as well, is: Shall we put 5,000,000 bales of cotton on the foreign market, or 8,000,000 bales?"

"But unless we augment foreign purchasing power there is no certainty that other countries will be able to buy satisfactory quantities of cotton, regardless of price. We may decide to wish to export the usual 8,000,000 bales and then learn that we can not do so."

Decision Important
The decision on cotton, the secretary said, "is of tremendous importance to every farmer and to industry as well."

"If we put only 5,000,000 bales annually on the export market," he said, "there will be fewer farm laborers and less business for ginners and cotton exporters. Displaced farmers will compete with city dwellers for jobs."

The secretary and other AAA officials are now studying the voluntary cotton program for 1935. The immediate problem is how many acres should be planted next year. From a normal acreage of 41,000,000, the land planted to cotton this year was reduced to 27,000,000. This figure, however, will be raised for 1935.

Seek Maximum Good
"We have come to no decision," the secretary said. "I hope, however, that it is realized that we are unable to attain that much desired goal—maximum production and a higher price per pound. A high price means curtailment. Increased production means a lowered price. Naturally, the policy desired is one that will yield the maximum income to Southern growers."

Reduced Toll Plea for Texarkanians Refused by State

Revenue Department Refuses to Make Cut for Football Game

SECONDS TO DIERKS

Will Play There Thursday—Texarkana on Hope Field Friday Night

LITTLE ROCK. — (AP) — State Revenue Department officials ruled Wednesday there was no authority for remitting 50-cent roundtrip toll fee for Texarkanians who wish to attend the Texarkana-Hope high school football game at Hope Friday night.

The officials had been asked to issue a special roundtrip toll fee of 50 cents to be good at the Fulton bridge on highway No. 67.

An informal ruling from the attorney general's office held that there was no authority for such a fee.

Second-Team Game
The Bobkittens will see action in a game Thursday afternoon with Dierks High School.

Assistant Coach Jimmy Jones will leave Thursday morning, taking a squad of approximately 20 players with him.

Statistics prepared by Mrs. Foy Hammons from last week's game with El Dorado show:

First downs: Hope 17, El Dorado 9. Forward passes: Hope 3 out of 6 for 85 yards. El Dorado 3 out of 6 for 45 yards. Forward passes intercepted: Hope 2 for 3 yards. El Dorado 1 for 5 yards.

Penalties: Hope 4 for 40 yards. El Dorado 1 for 5 yards. Yards gained from scrimmage: Hope 313, El Dorado 100. Yards lost from scrimmage: Hope 20, El Dorado 17.

Hope Scrimmage Best
Average in yards gained from scrimmage: Hope 55 attempts for an average of 5 yards. El Dorado 40 attempts for an average of 2 yards.

It was said in a letter of transmittal from Chief County Accountant J. Bryan Sims to Comptroller Griffin Smith that this increase resulted from the issuance of warrants in excess of the county's revenues.

"Special attention should be called to Exhibit A-1 showing the financial condition for the year 1932 and the financial condition for 1933," Mr. Sims wrote.

"You will note under this exhibit that on November 10, 1931, they had outstanding warrants against the county general fund in the sum of $4,328.60. Their total revenue for the 1931-32 fiscal year was in the sum of $69,962.67. Against this they issued warrants in the sum of $75,531.71, and at the close of business on December 31, 1932, there was $16,749.08 in outstanding county general warrants with only a balance in the treasurer's office of $5,145.89 for the fiscal year of 1933, beginning January 1 and ending December 31, 1933."

"The county's general revenue was $39,614.07. Against this sum there was a transfer of $2,352.30, and treasurer's commission of $1,143.05. In addition to this they issued $69,886.66 in warrants, increasing their outstanding warrants to $24,672.63, plus an overdraft in the county treasurer's office on December 31, 1933, of $697.60—or in other words in the last two years the floating indebtedness of Miller county has increased from $4,328.60 to $24,672.63, plus the overdraft. If they continue at that rate, in the next five years they will have $100,000 in floating warrants."

Odd Fellows Elect Mrs. Emma Hamilton

Mrs. Emma Hamilton of Hope, was elected secretary-treasurer of the Rebekah Association of the Arkansas Grand Lodge of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows at the final session Tuesday of a two-day state convention held at Stuttgart.

Seary was chosen as the 1935 convention city. About 200 delegates from 25 cities and towns attended a joint convention of the Rebekahs and the Independent Order of Odd Fellows.

WASHINGTON. — (AP) — President Roosevelt is hopeful that definite means of enforcing measures to prevent an enormous oil surplus will be worked out by federal agents now in the midcontinent fields.

BUCHAREST, Rumania. — (AP) — Three men were arrested Wednesday at Arad on a suspicion of having been involved in the life of King Carol. One had a French passport, another a Bulgarian, and the third a Yugo-Slavian. Authorities declined to reveal the names of the suspects or further details.

When word leaked out that Chapman was going to plead guilty many spectators hurried to the courthouse. This ends a year and half manhunt conducted by Sheriff A. W. Ellis and his staff and cleans up the bank robbery blow from Mrs. Wynn.

$3,000 Cut Offered by Gas Company to Municipal Plant

Counter-Proposal Aimed to Meet Agitation for Wood Fuel

UP TO CITY COUNCIL

Final Action Expected on Fuel Question Early in November

A reduction of approximately $3,000 per year from the present gas rate has been offered the Hope Water and Light Plant by representatives of the Arkansas Natural Gas Corporation in its fight to retain gas as a fuel for the plant, it was learned Wednesday.

The reduction offer came as a counter-proposal to the Board of Public Affairs' recommendation that the municipally owned plant use wood from Hempstead county farms, provided that the cost of wood fuel would not exceed more than $2,500 per year the cost of gas.

The wood proposal by the Board of Public Affairs was submitted to the city council several days ago as a relief measure to farmers and the community as a whole.

Figures show that the gas company was paid $24,329 for fuel used by the plant from October 1, 1933, to the same date this year.

The new reduction offer, the fifth concession in several years, is a saving of approximately $3,000 per year from what the water and light plant once paid the gas company—or a saving of approximately $3,000 per year from the present gas rate, it was pointed out.

The water and light committee of the city council urged that the public express its opinion on this matter. Final action is expected to be taken at the next meeting of the city council, November 6.

Farm Sales Break Record, September

Purchasers Plentiful for Good Land, St. Louis Bank Agent Says

All previous records for farm real estate sales made in a single month were broken by the Federal Land Bank of St. Louis during September with farm sales amounting to more than $212,300, according to Hugh Smith, of Hope, real estate field man for the Federal Land Bank.

In Mr. Smith's opinion, one of the contributing factors to this upturn in farm sales is the fact that farmers and town investors alike now feel certain that the low point in land values has definitely been passed.

"Another noticeable feature of this buying wave is that purchasers are seeking good farms. In territories where crops and prices are good, buyers are plentiful. The tendency today is for investors to put their money in tangible property. Farm land, at present prices, is considered one of the best types of investment."

"Buyers can now purchase farms on favorable terms with little cash," Mr. Smith continued. "The Federal Land Bank of St. Louis offers for sale only such farms as it has been compelled to acquire and these properties are sold at prices based on present values. Only 25 per cent cash is required for delivery of deed, with the remainder carried in a 20-year amortized loan at 3 1/2 per cent interest. It is this type of loan which can be paid like rent that influences many farmer buyers to purchase Federal Land Bank farms."

CAMDEN, Ark. — Changing his mind, Charlie Chapman, 36, once wealthy highway contractor, appeared before Judge L. S. Britt in circuit court Tuesday and pleaded guilty to robbery of the Citizens Bank & Trust Co. here June 22, 1933.

Monday, Chapman had pleaded not guilty and his case had been set for Wednesday. Judge Britt sentenced Chapman to 15 years on the robbery count and five years for burglary. Sheriff A. W. Ellis recommended the sentence.

"I want the good will of everybody," Chapman said in response to Judge Britt's question if he had anything to say before sentence was pronounced.

"I want to get back to the right road and I will appreciate anything anybody can do for me. I did wrong and I intend to show everybody that I can do right now."

He seemed in good spirits and the nervousness of Monday had vanished. The sentence seemed to satisfy him and he acted as if a load had been taken off his mind.

Before imposing sentence Judge Britt, who set the $50,000 bond which Chapman jumped in Union county just before the local robbery when he was arraigned on a bank robbery charge there, told Chapman that he had given his friends and bondsmen in Union county a "dirty deal."

"That was the worst thing you could have done," Judge Britt said. "I know it, your honor," Chapman said, "but there are some things that everybody doesn't know about in that case."

When word leaked out that Chapman was going to plead guilty many spectators hurried to the courthouse. This ends a year and half manhunt conducted by Sheriff A. W. Ellis and his staff and cleans up the bank robbery blow from Mrs. Wynn.

Penney Co. Finishes 9th Year in Hope

Hope Store, Opened in 1925, Breaking All Records This Year

The Hope store of J. C. Penney Co., Inc., is celebrating its 9th anniversary Wednesday. The Penney company installed the Hope store in October, 1925, in the building on West Second street which it still occupies.

The store opened under the management of Tescote Evans, who continued as manager until the early part of 1931, when he was transferred to Lapeer, Mich.

A. E. Stonequist followed Robert Huguennin in charge of the local store, and has continued as manager ever since 1932. Under Mr. Stonequist's management the store has shown a remarkable increase in business and each year he has been able to show his company a substantial gain over the preceding year. Business so far this year has been the most prosperous that the store has ever enjoyed and every indication points to this year's total volume of business being the largest in the history of the Hope store, Mr. Stonequist says.

The J. C. Penney Company now has 1,387 stores, operating in every state in the union. In Arkansas alone, it has 15 stores. The Hope store was the second to be located in Arkansas, the store at Fort Smith being the first.

Besides Mr. Stonequist, the store employs eight men and women regularly, with as many as 25 clerks helping out on special sales days and on Saturdays.

The Penney company is celebrating its 9th anniversary in Hope by having a special Birthday Jubilee Sale, in which, they say, they are cutting their "ninth birthday cake of values."

Mrs. Lowthorp in Blytheville Speech

Hope Woman Makes Principal Address at U. D. C. Convention

Mrs. Charles Lowthorp of Hope, was the principal speaker at the opening session of the 39th annual state convention of the United Daughters of the Confederacy which met at Blytheville Tuesday night.

Mrs. Lowthorp is president of the Arkansas Division of the U. D. C. The first meeting was held at the city auditorium and was followed by a reception given Elliott Fletcher, chapter of Blytheville.

Gen. Rice A. Pierce of Union City, Tenn., commander of the United Confederate Veterans; Gen. Charles A. DeSaussure, Memphis, past commander of the U. C. V., and Gen. R. M. Bullington of Memphis, commander of the Trans-Mississippi Department, U. C. A., were guests of honor.

TOP—Riddled by bullets from federal agents' guns, the body of "Pretty Boy" Floyd, his long career of spectacular crime, ended, is shown here, with three officers, at the East Liverpool, Ohio, morgue, where the corpse was taken following the killing of the Oklahoma outlaw on a farm seven miles north. More than a dozen bullets from high-powered rifles struck the desperado, one, shot, entering his side, causing almost instant death.

Ford Contest Is Won by McLarty

Hope Auto Co. Sells 26 Cars in 20 Days—2 Winners in State

Tom McLarty left for Chicago Wednesday as one of the two Arkansas Ford dealers to capture a prize trip offered by the Ford Motor company. He will return home Saturday.

Hope Auto company sold 26 automobiles the first 20 days of October, taking prize honors with the Blytheville dealer and one dealer in Memphis making only three out of the entire Memphis branch territory.

Mr. McLarty was among the first 100 Ford dealers in the United States for the trial sales period, October 1-20. The dealers will be the guests of Ford Motor company at Chicago, where W. C. Cowling will represent the factory. There will be a roundtable discussion and a forecast of business in 1935.

Bonus Advanced as Means of Increasing Money Circulation

MIAMI, Fla. — (AP) — The American Legion legislation committee Thursday will recommend to the convention that it go on record as favoring immediate cash payment of the bonus, it was learned Wednesday on competent authority.

The Associated Press learned that the legislative committee would recommend cash payment of the bonus on the premise that funds so released would alleviate the general economic depression by putting a large amount of money into immediate circulation, thereby relieving unemployment to a great extent.

Hearings Set for Telegraph Merger

Western Union-Postal Case to Be Studied Beginning December 3

WASHINGTON. — (AP) — Hearings on the advisability of consolidating the Western Union and Postal telegraph companies were ordered Wednesday by the Federal Communications Commission for December 3.

The hearings will embrace the advisability of consolidating or merging all telegraph companies.

The commission said the subject of mergers was one of the most important brought forward in the report of President Roosevelt's Inter-Departmental Committee's study of communications.

Kitchens Gains in Election Contest

Appears 98 Votes Were Taken From Him by Ashley Co. Certificate

HAMBURG, Ark. — Testimony of judges and clerks of various precincts in Ashley county in the Democratic run-off primary was completed Tuesday in the suit by Wade Kitchens of Mayolia, contesting the nomination of Congressman Tilman B. Parks of Camden.

In three townships there were discrepancies between the poll books kept by the judges on election day and the certificates approved by the county committee.

In the Cooter precinct the committee certified Parks 43, and Kitchens 23. The poll book showed Parks 30 and Kitchens 33.

In the Hickory Grove box the certification was Parks twelve, Kitchens eight. The election poll book showed Parks two, Kitchens eight and only ten votes cast.

In the Wilnot box they certified Parks 68, and Kitchens 33, while the judges had it Parks 58 and Kitchens 43.

Baby Registration Campaign

LITTLE ROCK—Baby census cards are piling up at the State Bureau of Vital Statistics in response to the first Arkansas "Register Your Baby" campaign being conducted jointly by the state bureau, the Federal Bureau of the Census and the Arkansas Emergency Relief Administration.

Cards for the drive were mailed from Washington last week to every family in Arkansas, and from the return indications are that most parents are most anxious that their children receive proper registration. Information is requested only on babies born within the past 12 months, and the cards carrying this information are to be returned to the director of the Census in Washington, postage free. The director will transmit these returns to Little Rock, where they will be checked against existing state records by a corps of clerks.

The Clew of the Forgotten Murder

by CARLETON KENDRAKE

©1934 NEA Service, Inc.

BEGIN HERE TODAY
When DAN BLEEKER, publisher of The Blade, learns that CHARLES MORDEN, police reporter, has been mysteriously killed he employs SIDNEY GRIFF, famous criminologist, to solve the murder.

Morden had been investigating the affairs of FRANK B. CATHAY, wealthy and prominent, who had threatened to sue The Blade because the newspaper reported Cathay had been arrested. The man arrested was an impostor giving the name of Cathay and accompanied by a girl called MARY BRIGGS.

Soon after Morden is found dead comes news that Cathay is dead—possibly poisoned.

Morden's fingerprints are found in the apartment of a girl named ALICE LORTON who has reported the disappearance of her roommate, ESTHER ORDWAY. Griff and Bleeker visit Alice Lorton and question her.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XVIII

SIDNEY GRIFF started pacing the floor. Bleeker watched him with frowning speculation. Alice Lorton's blue eyes were fastened upon him with wide candor, the candor with which a young patient regards a skilled physician who has come to minister to his suffering—an expression of blind faith which bordered upon devotion.

"How about magazines?" Griff asked suddenly, sweeping his hand in an inclusive gesture toward the magazines on the table. "These weren't purchased at news stands, were they?"

Alice Lorton shook her head. Griff picked several up, looked at the back pages.

"They were all Esther's," the girl said. "She subscribed to them. Some of them came in wrappers. Some of them had her name stamped on the covers."

"You don't know anything about her family?"

"No."

"Know whether she'd been married or not?"

"I don't think she had. She didn't have much use for men."

"That might indicate she'd been married and separated."

"Yes, it might, but she seemed sort of... unsophisticated, if you know what I mean."

"Humph!" Griff said skeptically. "How often did she ask you to leave when she had men friends coming?"

"Not very often—just once or twice a month perhaps."

"What did she do with her evenings?"

"She read."

"No, she was a shy, retiring girl in many ways. Esther was always a mystery to me. She had quite a bit of mail come in, and she wrote quite a few letters. But that seemed to be about the only social contact she had. She loved to read. She was very much inclined to curl up on the couch and spend the evenings ning there reading."

"What did she do the evenings when you had your boy friends come to see you?" Griff asked.

"She went out to picture shows. I think, although she didn't care much for them."

"She came home late?"

"Yes, quite late."

"Did you tell her what time to come home?"

"No. I just used to tell her that I would have a boy friend in for the evening."

"How often did you have your friends here?"

"Not very often—not as often as she did. You see, I don't know many boys."

"You're working?"

"No, I haven't been for some time."

"You're here quite a bit then during the daytime?"

"Sometimes, yes."

"And Esther Ordway was here quite a bit during the daytime?"

"No," Alice Lorton said, "that's the funny thing about her. She used to get up early, before anyone was stirring. She got up at 6 o'clock in the morning and always left the apartment by quarter to 7, sometimes earlier. She was gone all day, invariably. I don't know where she went or what she did."

"But you don't think she was working?"

Alice Lorton lowered her eyes. "I don't know," she said. "Griff looked over at Bleeker."

"I think," he said, "this is about all we can find out here."

In the hallway Griff turned to Bleeker.

"Has it impressed you," he said, "how closely the description of this missing girl checks with the description Morden gave of the girl who claimed to be the hitch-hiker? The one who gave the name of Mary Briggs, and who was riding in the car with the man who had been using the name of Frank Cathay?"

BLEEKER paused mid-stride, gave a quick exclamation. "That's so," he said. "But it's not much of a description."

"Such as it is," Griff said. "It checks point for point, size, weight, complexion, age. How about clothes?"

"The clothes check," Bleeker said. "Griff said nothing more until they were in the taxicab. Then he turned to Bleeker."

"You going to have your men shadow the apartment?" he asked. Bleeker nodded.

"I'm going to play ball with you, Griff," he said. "There are times when I think your methods are wild, and then I see them check out, and they seem perfectly logical. There's something uncanny about the way you get to the heart of a situation."

of which we haven't appreciated."

"Don't you think that always happens in a criminal investigation?" Bleeker asked.

"Not always," Griff said. "You've got several things to do, things that are more or less matters of routine. And then you've got one thing to do that may make trouble."

"What's that?" Bleeker asked.

"I'll tell you the routine things first. You've got to try and find what bank Esther Ordway carried an account in. You've got to get in touch with the Lippman Realty Co. and find out what they know about her. You've got to have men watch the apartment. You've got to try and locate Mrs. Blanche Malone before Carl Racine locates her. But, in order to be certain, you've got to keep a man tagging Racine."

"What would Mrs. Malone have to do with the case?" Bleeker asked.

"We seem to have located the woman in the case."

GRIFF shook his head.

"You can never tell," he said, "until the cards are all on the table. You've got to get all the pieces of a jigsaw puzzle before you can put the thing together and have it make sense. I think Mrs. Cathay employed Racine to locate Mrs. Blanche Malone. At any rate, she's connected with the case in some way."

"Now, here's something you've got to do that may make trouble. You've got to get some young woman in whom you have confidence. She should go to an apartment and take the apartment under the name of Esther Ordway. Then she should go to the postoffice and leave a forwarding address, forwarding the mail of Esther Ordway from the Elite Apartments at 310 Robinson street to this apartment where the woman is living."

"That's going to get us into trouble with the postal authorities," Bleeker objected.

"It won't if they don't find out about it," Griff remarked.

"But they'll be bound to find out about it."

"I'm not so certain."

"But why go to all that trouble to read the woman's mail? Whoever is mixed up in the case with her, or knows she's mixed up in the case, knows that she's disappeared. You can't make me believe that she was spirited away. I think she deliberately stepped out of the picture and I'm willing to bet two to one that we find where she took an airplane."

Griff shook his head.

"I've got a theory about Esther Ordway," he said. "So far I haven't got enough data on the subject to back up the theory, but I want to get some additional facts just as rapidly as possible. In the meantime, you can have your men cover the outgoing airplanes if you want to, but if you make a bet, you're very likely to lose it."

In the next installment a hotel register yields information about the man who impersonated Frank Cathay.

Cotton Program Is to Continue in '35

Definite Announcement Is Made by Department of Agriculture

Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace announced Sunday that the cotton adjustment program would continue into the 1935 season.

This announcement was made in order that the more than one million cotton farmers who signed 1934 and 1935 cotton contracts can proceed with their farming plans for the next season with full assurance that the cotton adjustment program will be made effective for 1935 under the terms of the two-year contracts.

It was emphasized by officials of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration that the Secretary's announcement did not constitute the formal proclamation which the cotton contract requires. It is assurance that by December 1 such a proclamation will be issued.

The contract signed by cotton producers is restricted to the 1934 season (unless the Secretary shall, not later than December 1, 1934, proclaim his purpose of continuing the Cotton Acreage Reduction Plan for 1935). It is further provided in the contract that such a proclamation shall state the percentage of reduction required for 1935.

The cotton section of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration is engaged in developing the details of the 1935 program. These include the amount of reduction in acreage to be required and the amount and manner of rental and parity payments to be made. The complete details of the 1935 adjustment program will be announced as soon as they are completed and approved, it was stated.

Under the terms of the contract with producers, the maximum acreage reduction which can be required is 25 per cent of the base acreage which is the average of the five years, 1928-1932. It was pointed out that since this compares with a 35 to 45 per cent reduction below the base acreage that year, which averaged 40 per cent, it means that contract signers may plant an average of at least 25 per cent more acres in cotton in 1935 than they planted this year. As an example, a contract signer with a base acreage of 100 acres who planted 60 acres of cotton under his contract for the 1934 season may plant at least 75 acres next year, the 15 acre increase being 25 per cent more than this year's planting.

C. A. Cobb, chief of the cotton producers records are co-operating in the drive. Every postmaster in the state has been sent cards and asked to distribute them among families in his territory. However, if someone should be overlooked, or misplaced the card which they have received, duplicates may be obtained from the postoffice, any relief worker, any one of the field men who are assisting in the drive, any local registrar, or direct from the Bureau of Vital Statistics in Little Rock.

Parents are urged to fill in and return the cards at once, if they have not already done so, even if they know their child has been registered. Only in this manner can the efficiency of the campaign be accurately tested, according to Dr. W. G. Grayson, state health officer and director of the campaign.

students in an appearance here Thursday afternoon at 2:30.

He will speak at the high school building, linking the first expedition with the present trip, and will tell of what is transpiring now in the Antarctic base.

Mr. Lofgren was a personnel officer on the actual trip to the Antarctic and back, and was personal aide on Byrd's 1930 transcontinental lecture tour.

Lieutenant Lofgren retired in 1927 after sixteen years' honorable service in the United States Navy; was commissioned as Lieutenant, junior grade, during the World War; participated in the occupation of Vera Cruz, Mexico, in 1914, holds four good conduct medals for fidelity, zeal and obedience in the navy; and was awarded the duction section, stated that details of the 1935 program were being developed as rapidly as possible.

In his "Little American," Byrd wrote: "I handed these (sealed) instructions left at the base preparatory to the Admiral's taking off on his epic flight over the South Pole. I am in very good health and believe I can do a lot of it." Thousands of women testify Cardul benefited them. If it does not benefit YOU, consult a physician.

Thousands of Women Benefited By Cardul

The benefits many women obtain from Cardul give them great confidence in it. "I have four children," writes Mrs. J. L. Norred, of Lagrange, Ga. "Before the birth of my children, I was weak, nervous and tired. I had a lot of trouble with my back. I took Cardul each time and found it so helpful. Cardul did more to allay the nausea at these times than anything I have ever used. I am in very good health and believe Cardul did a lot of it." Thousands of women testify Cardul benefited them. If it does not benefit YOU, consult a physician.

Good Chance to Cure Cancer of the Lip

If there is any one form of cancer in which real hope ought to be offered, it is cancer of the lip. Usually cancers on this spot are less malignant than those elsewhere on the body. However, as with all cancers, the more promptness is a constant menace to life.

There are cases on record in which there has been a cancer of the lip for 10 years or longer. Average length of time is two or three years. Once started, these cancers spread; ulcers occur, and the person may die, due to spreading of the cancer to the lung.

Fortunately, it is now possible to treat cancers of the lip by early surgical operation and by use of radium and X-ray, and to offer a hope of recovery in the large majority of cases. For example, out of 52 cases treated by surgery in one clinic, 33 (or 63 per cent) were found to be quite well two or more years after the operation.

In a large clinic in the United States, cures were obtained in 90 out of 98 cases of cancer of the lip, in all of which not only was the cancer removed, but also the glands nearby.

If, however, the patient with a cancer of the lip waits until all glands of the neck have been enlarged, the chance of recovery is much less.

Radium seems to work particularly well in many cases of cancer of the lip. There are records of 11 recoveries by use of radium in 26 cases in one English clinic.

At the International Conference on Cancer, in 1928, records were collected of 525 persons with cancer on the lip which had been treated with radium. Of these, 115 were dead, 202 lost sight of, and 208 made completely free from the disease. Of the 208 cases, 74 were well from 5 to 10 years after the treatment with radium, and 35 were well from three to five years after similar treatment.

It is also possible to treat the glands first with the X-ray and afterwards with radium.

A few generations back, cases of cancer of the lip were treated by cancer quacks with all sorts of pastes and ointments containing corrosive chemicals. We now know that kind of treatment is dangerous and should never be used, whereas the surgical operation, radium, and X-ray offer considerable chance of complete recovery.

Jeeves Once More Provides a Rescue
—New Wodehouse Novel Is—as Usual—Very Funny

No publishing season can be a complete failure if it witnesses the publication of a new book by P. G. Wodehouse. This unassuming novelist has been giving us more than our share of laughter for a good many years, and he seems to have an uncanny knack of making a hit every time he comes to bat.

His newest one is entitled "Brinkley Manor," and you will doubtless be glad to know that it deals with Jeeves, the valet.

If you aren't familiar with the Jeeves stories, I must point out that Jeeves is about to Bertie Wooster, young-man-about-London. Bertie is just a little above the half-wit stage, but Jeeves is a mental giant who specializes in getting Bertie and all Bertie's friends out of the jams they get into.

In this book Bertie decides that this sort of thing is an insult to his own mental powers; so when his friends call on Jeeves for help, Bertie undertakes to fix things himself.

As a result, he presently finds himself trying to promote love affairs for two of his chums, and the outcome is so catastrophic that it takes all of Jeeves' skill to prevent a general riot.

As a high-water mark I commend to you the scene in which a shy lad named Gussie Pink-Noodle undertakes to award the prizes at a grammar school graduation exercise, and miserably fortifies himself with gin beforehand.

Published by Little, Brown and Co., "Brinkley Manor" sells for $2.

YOUR CHILDREN

By Olive Roberts Barton

Patched Clothes Are One Thing Children Don't Mind If They're Not Conspicuous

Children have an uncanny sense, or sensitivity, about clothes.

I believe we can do more harm to a child by making him wear the wrong things than we can compensate for in a lifetime.

He does not crave finery or the latest style. Almost the opposite. He is even complacent in tears and patches or clothes too small.

His two vulnerable points are conspicuous and unusual clothes or having things noticeably too large for him.

He likes to be one of the crowd. If all the children wear sweaters, he will feel first rate in a sweater. He won't want it down to his knees and finger-nails and he won't want it any color the other children will make fun of. But he won't suffer if it gets old or even ragged.

If he wears it day in and out, it won't bother him much. He is pretty well satisfied to bear the brunt of his own usage.

Patch those clothes with a too contrasting shade and he won't want to put it on. Patch it or darn it with something he considers right, and he will be utterly unconcerned.

Children are funny. They like to be in it. Sometimes this urge is stronger than the one to be inconspicuous. They like to follow fads. If there is a rash of red tams, for instance, a girl will rummage for a family cast-off and wear it even though it is sizes too big.

As a rule they hate to wear clothes not bought or made for them. That first day or two of explaining the source is just too much. In this day of fast fashions it is almost compulsory to dress the youngsters as best we may and the box from Aunt Sue is about the most welcome sight on earth.

But children dread those boxes. If there is a snug little blue coat that fits—well, that isn't so bad. But let it be gawky, though trimmed in sable and lined with satin, and watch the next heir edge away to the door. Better strip it a bit and turn up belts and take in seams.

What shall we tell children to say when asked where they got such and such a dress or suit?

The truth is better. Yet, it hurts. But if he fits about it he will always feel more uncomfortable than if he (or she) spills out the facts at once. As it happens, every one is passing around clothes to each other these days. Two men swapped suits not long ago, as each was tired of his own and it made a change for both.

However, as children are so sensitive, it is better to pay some heed to their wishes.

They dislike buttons off. They don't mind darts but prefer tears to startling patches. They don't mind things too tight or too short but hate them too long. They prefer a ten-cent eye-cup of a hat to a ten-dollar beaver if it looks too much. They like to be in the swim. Each has preferences of color. If none of the children at school wear certain colors, don't think yours will pioneer for you. They just won't.

GLORIFYING YOURSELF

By Alicia Hart

Putting Beauty Over With a Bang—Or Without

Their versatility is the nicest thing about modern haircuts. Just because your favorite barber trims your tresses one way is no sign that you can't change it occasionally to suit your mood or your costume.

For instance, bangs are cut so long that they can be worn down over the forehead one time and back with the rest of the hair another. A good coiffure man will part your hair near the crown of the head instead of two inches above the hairline. Then, when you don't feel up to bangs, you can comb them back.

Old Memories

Old memories bring hallowed, secret places That shine across the dreams of yesteryears Thought lights that dimly hold beloved faces And eyes that gleam with laughter or with tears The glory of old memories will never cease Because they bring old sorrows wrapped in peace.

The Senior, Junior Hi will entertain at a Tacky party Thursday night in the Gym at the high school. All mothers and fathers are urged to be present in "tacky costumes." Prizes will be given.

The third of the series of Home Mission studies being conducted at the First Presbyterian church this week will be held Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock at the church. For the week period in the church special music will be furnished by the colored quartette. The Women's Study Group will be led by Miss Mamie Twichell on the missionary work among the negroes and Indians, with special music. Tuesday evening a splendid lesson was conducted on the ante-bellum and the modern South by Mrs. Finley Ward assisted by Mrs. Herbert Morley, Mrs. C. C. McNeill and Mrs. Enlow.

Miss Lucy Boyd has returned from two weeks visit with her brother, J. L. Boyd and Mrs. Boyd in Corpus Christi, Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Harrell have received a message announcing the passing of their niece, Miss Ruth Thornton at Denver, Colo. Miss Thornton had many friends in this city made during her visits with the Harrells, who will regret to hear of her death.

Mrs. George Sandefur and Mrs. E. C. Brown were Monday visitors in Texarkana.

Among the Hope band boys in the parade in celebration for Schoolboy Rowe in El Dorado on Monday were Roy Lewis, Ben McRae, Thomas Crossen, Peyton Cobb, J. T. Luck, Pete Oliver, Nolan and Dolan Cargile. The only thing lacking to keep up the stamming of our band boys and help them keep the standard they have attained by their efforts and practice is uniforms, something not missed so much by home folks, but in a parade like that of Monday in El Dorado, uniforms would help a whole lot and certainly look more in line, with other uniformed bands.

Among Hope fans attending the celebration in El Dorado on Monday were Mrs. W. C. Bruner, Misses Corlison and Mary Bruner and Mrs. A. C. Kolb.

Mrs. W. R. Chandler and Mrs. Roy Cotton left Tuesday for a few days visit with relatives and friends in Little Rock.

Mrs. Edwin Dossett spent Monday with relatives and friends in Chestnut, La.

J. J. Kirby, Jr., former well known local ice manager and now personnel director for Southern United Ice company with headquarters at Jackson, Miss., was a Hope visitor Monday. He was accompanied here from Texarkana by his mother, Mrs. Joseph Kirby, and his sister, Mrs. George Beals, both of Texarkana.

Mr. and Mrs. Fay James have as house guests Mrs. Ray James and little daughter of Horatio.

Home Clubs

The Columbus Home Demonstration Club met Thursday at the home of Mrs. A. A. Taylor, Mrs. C. R. White the president conducted the business meeting. The devotion was given by Mrs. J. R. Autrey. Twenty-two members and two visitors were present. Mrs. Tommy McCord was appointed secretary for the rest of the year. At the close of the business meeting Miss Griffin gave demonstrations in making rolls and Swedish tea ring. The hostess served delicious sandwiches and ice tea. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. J. R. Autrey.

Palmos-Hinton The Palmos-Hinton demonstration club met at the home of Mrs. Oliver Riders with 22 members and three visitors.

The devotion was led by Miss Griffin, followed by song. The meeting was turned over to the president. A committee was appointed to meet with quorum court in behalf of our home demonstration agent. Miss Griffin gave a demonstration on bread and rolls.

The next meeting will be with Mrs. Ed Adams. Mrs. Rider served punch and waffles.

ballots were received by August 28 and none thereafter but the committee certified the absentee ballots as Parks 68, and Kitchens 33, while the said he did not know whether the envelopes had more than one ballot each but that at least one envelope might have contained three tickets.

Levi Smith, one of the judges from the Coater box, testified that on last Friday L. P. Sivile, a fellow judge, came to his house with a man who purported to be a Mr. Greene and with a purported court order for the election poll books and tally sheets. Smith took a receipt which was exhibited and gave the material to them. By mistake, he said, he kept the certificate of the judges and clerks as to the results and this was introduced. This certificate of the judges and clerks showed the returns different from the returns as certified by the Central Committee in which Kitchens lost 10 votes and Parks gained 13. Smith said that he did not know Greene, but saw him in the courthouse.

Most of Tuesday was spent examining 36 witnesses who testified they had voted for Kitchens, in an effort on the part of Kitchens to show that there was fraud in the certification of the vote at Crossett. Parks' lawyers objected to any oral testimony being introduced to controvert the returns as certified by the Central Committee. Kitchens' lawyers replied that the contents of the ballot box having been stolen it was permissible to show the fraud by oral testimony and that there is no other way to show it.

Judge Henry permitted the introduction of the testimony and requested lawyers for both sides to give him their statements of authorities. He served his ruling on the admissibility of the testimony until he had had time to study it.

Kitchens' lawyers announced that between 200 and 300 witnesses would be called from the Crossett box who would swear they had voted for Kitchens, while the certification as made by the Central Committee and by the testimony of one of the judges, Cal White, gave him only 85 votes to Parks' 479 at Crossett.

The other election officials at Crossett have not testified as to the result. White's statement was brought out on cross-examination by Parks' lawyers.

'Scarlet Empress' at the Saenger

Marlene Dietrich in Role of Catherine the Great, Thursday

"The Scarlet Empress," which more than justifies its advance heading as Marlene Dietrich's greatest starring opportunity and Director von Sternberg's most pretentious production, opens at the Saenger theatre Thursday.

Based on a diary by the glamorous Catherine the Great of Russia, who ruled her country with an iron hand and yet was ruled herself by romantic impulses, "The Scarlet Empress" must be rated a spectacle by any standards of judgment. It goes beyond lavishness of production and artistic beauty, however, in that it is one of the most gripping dramatic stories yet to reach the screen.

Miss Dietrich as Catherine, offers a characterization which compels attention throughout the picture. John Lodge, a comparative newcomer among leading men, scores decisively in the role of Count Alexei, Sam Jaffe as the idiotic Grand Duke Peter and Louise Dresser as Empress Elizabeth likewise make the most of colorful roles.

"Outcast Lady," which comes for a 11 o'clock preview showing Friday night, presents a great pair of lovers in one of the strongest emotional dramas ever written for stage or screen.

Constance Bennett and Herbert Marshall made an unforgettable pair in Zoe Akins' picture version of Michael Arlen's story acclaimed by many of the eastern cities as her best screen effort.

has been long and searching. Considerable local interest was shown in the payment of poll taxes of witnesses. Many were paid through the office of the Crossett Lumber Co., a custom of long standing. Many poll tax receipts were given to the voters without their knowing who paid for the receipts.

The photostatic copy of the certification made by the Central Committee to Harvey Combs, secretary of the Democratic State Committee, shows that 98 votes were taken from Kitchens and given to Parks, in that the totals by townships lack that number of equaling the totals as certified by the Central Committee. The certification shows Parks 1,472, Kitchens 1,063. The totals by townships show Parks 1,370, Kitchens 1,161.

enter his plea of not guilty to the murder charge.

The trial date—which will be fixed following the arraignment—hinges on whether the state decides to acquiesce in the defense's request for a four or five-week delay and upon a state law providing that a case must be completed during the same term in which it starts.

If the defense request is granted, and it was said the prosecution wishes to be accommodating, the trial could not be opened before December 1. Because the Hunterdon county court's September term expires December 11, it was pointed out it would not be possible to start at that time as the state, with about 70 witnesses, expects the case to consume three weeks.

The proximity of the Christmas holidays, it was added, would prevent the trial starting at the beginning of a new court term, December 11, inasmuch as the state would be reluctant to keep the jurors away from their families at that time.

Remarkable Formula Helps To Prevent Colds—Samples Free at Local Drug Stores

Tested in Clinics by Practicing Physicians, and Proved in Everyday Home Use, Vicks Vapo-nol Helps Millions in Avoiding Many Colds

FREE TRIAL PACKAGE

Also Contains Other Medications Used in Vicks Plan for Better Colds-Control

FOLDER EXPLAINS PLAN

Every family in Hope interested in having fewer colds has a chance now to get acquainted with the unique aid in preventing colds—Vicks Vapo-nol. Vapo-nol is especially designed for the nose and throat—where most colds start. It aids and stimulates the functions provided by Nature—in the nose—to prevent colds, and to throw off colds in their early stages.

Vapo-nol is easy and convenient to use—any time or place—at home or at work. Just a few drops up each nostril—at the first sign of discomfort in the nose—irritation or dryness, sniffle or sneeze. Used in time, it helps to avoid many a cold entirely. Where irritation has led to a clogged-up nose (a stuffy head cold or nasal catarrh) Vapo-nol penetrates deep into the nasal passages—reduces swollen membranes—clears away clogging mucus—brings comforting relief. Vapo-nol's remarkable effectiveness has been proved in thousands of clinical tests supervised by practicing physicians. Equal effectiveness is shown in its everyday home use—aiding millions to greater freedom from colds.

(Note—For your protection: The remarkable success of Vicks Drope for nose and throat—has brought scores of would-be imitators. Don't confuse Vicks real medication with mere "oil drops." The trademark name "Vapo-nol" is your protection in getting the original and exclusive Vicks formula. Always ask for Vicks Vapo-nol. It is available now in two generous sizes—30c and 50c.)

Get Your Trial Samples Now Your druggist has a limited supply of de luxe combination sample packages. Let's find out why Turkish tobacco is so important to a good cigarette

On the sunny slopes of Smyrna . . . in the fertile fields of Macedonia . . . along the shores of the Black Sea . . . grows a kind of tobacco that is different from any other tobacco in the world.

THESE Turkish tobaccos are the only tobaccos of foreign cultivation that are used to any great extent in making American cigarettes.

Turkish tobaccos are famous for their spicy aroma, and a blend of the right kinds of Turkish tobacco with our own home-grown tobaccos is better than any one kind used alone.

In Chesterfield we balance mild, ripe tobaccos grown in this country with just the right amounts of the right kinds of Turkish.

It is by blending and cross-blending these different tobaccos that we make Chesterfield the cigarette that's milder, the cigarette that tastes better.

Turkish tobacco hung in the open air to be cured.

BOOTS AND HER BUDDIES

WELL, SIS—HOW DID YOU LIKE MONA? YOU SEEMED TO HIT IT OFF SPLENDIDLY.....

OH, WE.....

DIDN'T YOU FIND HER INTERESTING? SHE'S DIFFERENT, NO DOUBT, FROM THE FOLKS YOU'RE USED TO—BUT, PERHAPS THAT'S WHY SHE'S SO FASCINATING.....

Billy Speaking—

WELL.....

IS SHE ANYTHING LIKE WHAT YOU THOUGHT SHE WOULD BE? SHE SEEMS RATHER EXOTIC, WHEN YOU FIRST MET HER, BUT—YOU GET TO LIKE THAT! IN FACT, I THINK IT'S ONE OF HER MOST ALLURING CHARMS.....

DON'T YOU THINK SHE'S PRETTY? NOT IN THE USUAL WAY, BUT FROM THE STAND-POINT OF CHARACTER, POISE AND PERSONALITY! SHE'S SO LIVACIOUS..... NEVER A DULL MOMENT.....

ALLEY OOP

IF ANYBODY THINKS I'M GONNA BAG THAT DUMB-HEADED ALLEY OOP A SPOTTED CAT, JUST SO HE CAN MARRY MY LIL' WOOTIE TOOT, THEY'RE DUE FER A SURPRISE!

Guz Soldiers on the Job!

YEZZIR! I'VE CHANGED MY MIND ABOUT THIS BUSINESS—IF OOP GITS A SPOTTED CAT SKIN FER A WEDDING ROBE, HE'LL GIT IT HISSSELF—

WASH TUBBS

BOYS, YOU'RE RIGHT, YOU'VE DONE MORE THAN SHOW ME A GOOD TIME—YOU'VE SHOWED ME WHAT A SELFISH, GREEDY, SOUR-FACED OLD FOOL I'VE BEEN.

AW, YOU'RE NOTSA BAD, BOARDS.

The Turning Point

YOU—YOU'VE EVEN FRIGHTENED ME, BUT FOR PROVIDENCE, I, HORATIO BOARDMAN, MIGHT BE A FENILESS, HOMELESS WRETCH, LIKE THOSE HOBOES WE SAW.

By CRANE

IT MAKES ME SHUDDER, I'VE THOUGHT ONLY OF MYSELF AND MY PERSONAL COMFORTS. I'VE BEEN FAR TOO GREEDY, TOO RICH, TOO INCONSIDERATE OF THE RIGHTS OF OTHERS. NOT ONLY AM I EAGER TO PAY THE $10,000 I OWE YOU, BUT—

ATTABOY, BOARDY, COME TO POPPA!

By BLOSSER

BUT FROM NOW ON, I'M GOING TO HELP OTHERS LESS FORTUNATE THAN I, I'M GOING TO RAISE EVERYBODY'S PAY, ENDOW HOSPITALS, FLOP-HOUSES, MEDICAL CLINICS! AND—

HURAY FOR BOARDY!

NOW YOU'RE TALKING, FELLA!

FRECKLES AND HIS FRIENDS

GOSH, I HEAR DAD'S FOOTSTEPS IN THE HALL! I'D BETTER HIDE FRECKLES' TEST PAPER!

WHAT ARE YOU DOING HOME SON? I THOUGHT YOU LEFT AN HOUR AGO!

I...I WAS JUST SORT OF CHECKING UP ON SOME THINGS I HAD TO DO!!

A Close Call!

YOU ACT THE WAY YOU USED TO, WHEN YOUR MOTHER FOUND A MASON JAR MISSING AND YOU WITH JAM ON YOUR FACE!

By COWAN

HEH...HEH! WELL, YOU SEE I WAS...ER... JUST SORT OF TAKING CARE OF A FEW THINGS! HEH...H!

By BLOSSER

GEE, THAT WAS A CLOSE CALL! I'D BETTER HIDE FRECKLES' ORIGINAL TEST PAPER IN MY DRESSER DRAWER, UNTIL I CAN GET AN OPPORTUNITY TO BURN IT, OR SOMETHING!!

THE NEWFANGLES (Mom'n Pop)

WITH DAN LONG'S LETTER OF PROPOSAL AND PHOTO TUCKED CLOSE TO HER HEART, LEAPIN' LIL WAVES FAREWELL TO HER PUBLIC, ON HER LAST PARACHUTE JUMP

Up She Goes!

SO THIS IS DANIEL LONG, THE MAN WHO IS WILLING TO MARRY ME, SIGHT UNSEEN, FOR BETTER OR FOR WORSE

By COWAN

HE ISN'T MUCH T'LOOK AT, BUT HE HAS A KIND FACE—ANYWAY, I'M NOT TAKING THE CHANCE WITH HIM THAT I TAKE DOING THIS STUNT EVERY DAY

By COWAN

WELL, HE HAS PLENTY OF DOUGH, SO I'M GAME!

IT'S GETTING COOL—8000 FEET—NO WONDER! I'D BETTER CUT LOOSE!
